Dear George:

Thank you for your note of the 20th. I look forward to hearing more from you.

The NK ~~score~~ finally got in touch with us and although there was some delay in the shipment it will all turn out well before long.

For your question of a suitable visiting lecturer in bacterial genetics I would strongly recommend Dr. M.L. Morse, Webb Building, University of Colorado Medical Center, Denver 20, Colorado. He was a very productive student of mine and was a very effective researcher in the analysis of transduction of Gal factors by phage lambda. You will find papers under his authorship among the reprints sent from this laboratory. He has been working at Denver sufficiently long now that he might well be interested in a break especially as he took no postdoctoral fellowship between his studies and his position there.

As ever,

Joshua Lederberg
